As President of the Foundation for a Culture of Peace, I would like to commend the “Educachess” project, which was presented to me earlier this year.

Through “Educachess” language-learning can be approached by young pupils, so as they learn different languages but also allowing the promotion of the linguistic diversity and the universality of education to be feasible. In fact, because its involvement on approaching to different cultures, on aiming to reach equally all children, and because chess has been proved as a great tool to teach respect, conviviality and fair play, the project “Educachess” can become a suitable actor to improve the Culture of Peace.

For all these reasons I encourage to consider favourably the “Educachess” project, and provide the support you consider most appropriate.

Yours sincerely,

Federico Mayor
